EVADING GRAFT CHARGES

Presidential Nominee Fires Opening Gun of Campaign at Seagirt, N. J.

Seagirt, N. J.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, made it clear in an address here Friday that in his judgment, President Coolidge failed in his acceptance address to meet the issue of corruption in public office.

Referring specifically to the oil, veterans bureau, and prohibition scandals, Mr. Davis declared that the Republican party could not escape responsibility for the acts of its high officers elevated to places of power. Then added:

"If the fact is that the public resources have been squandered, is it any answer to say that a budget system has been installed?"

"If unfit and corrupt men have been put into office and left to their own devices, is it a sufficient defense that the administration was not actually desirous of dishonesty?"

"If the wounded veteran has been defrauded of the cure that was his due, is there any comfort to him in the fact that congress made lavish appropriations?"

"It is the treating of all classes and all sections of the country on an equal basis. It is the avoidance of secrecy and whispering and sharp practice in the management of public affairs. Men love darkness rather than light only when their deals are evil. Whether in Washington or out of it, we will have no invisible advisers in our party councils, no alliance with any of those who work in secret for secret ends."

Mr. Davis told his audience that this was only one of the points on which the Republican and Democratic parties differ and he promised that as the campaign proceeded some of the points already clear would become "plainer still."

"They outwardly deplore special privilege, except in the sacred guise of a protective tariff," he said. "We oppose it in this and every other form. They believe or profess to believe that agriculture should be on an economic basis with other industries. They have no plans to this end but appointment of a committee to investigate and advise that the farmer provide himself with leaders not interested in politics."

"We think that the first step to economic equality is to deprive others of their unjust advantage."

"They are content to conduct the foreign affairs of the United States through private citizens, unofficially observing."

"We think America is great enough to speak in her own name."

"They propose now, after nearly four years of absolute inaction, to enroll the United States as a member of the court of international justice. We promise to do so as soon as power is in our hands."

"They present a party made up of a president facing in one direction, a congress in another and the rank and file scattered in between. We have a harmonious army, officers, and private, marching to a common end."

Mr. Davis declared that those who ask the country to pretend that the acts of those public officials involved in the scandals were "simple indiscretions" which should be overlooked, "assume" a degree of indifference or a lack of interest on the part of the people which would be itself a reflection upon popular government. "If it be true that public interest in these things has waned," he asked, "is it not a public duty to see that it is revived before too day of judgment comes?"

"In view of the record of the past three years," Mr. Davis said, "they (the Republicans) pray, not without reason, for a government of common sense. We stand for one of common honesty? What is honesty in government? Honesty in the handling of public funds and the public property, of course. But it is something more. It is candor and fair dealing and impartiality and the transaction of the public business in the open, broad daylight without disguise or pretense or evasion. It is the playing of no favorites, whether in making public contracts or in writing public laws."

LOEB, LEOPOLD ARE PARANOID, LAWYER SAYS

Delusion of Grandeur Cited As Proof by Bachrach in Seeking Mitigation

By Associated Press
Chicago—That Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb have paranoid personalities was the direct statement made Friday to Judge John R. Caverly by Walter Bachrach, one of the attorneys who are trying to save from the gallows the admitted murderers of Robert Franks.

Mr. Bachrach devoted much of his argument to an analysis of the medical testimony, asserting that the alienists had taken insufficient opportunity to study the youths. He also intimated that those observations had been made with the idea of stopping a defense based upon legal insanity and therefore failed to take into consideration symptoms which would show a mental disease short of insanity.

Mr. Bachrach quoted testimony given by Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, a state alienist, on cross examination to prove his point as to the character of the state's investigation. He followed this with quotations from a book written by Doctors H. Douglas Singer and William O. Krohn, other state alienists. From this volume he read symptoms of paranoia and pointed out that these had all been found in the defendants by the lengthy examinations of the defense alienists.

"We do not claim that these boys are stupid or do not realize where they are," said Mr. Bachrach, "but that the facts they are of high intelligence and do realize it, are taken in connection with other circumstances, evidence that are paranoias."

Mr. Bachrach said that the use of wrong premises in his logic and Leopold's delusions of grandeur and holding himself a superman, as the chief corollary facts.

"A paranoic may consider himself equal to a king, to Napoleon, to Christ or even God Almighty," said Mr. Bachrach. "He need not say he is equal but if he acts as though he believed himself in that exalted sphere it is evidence of a paranoic personality."

The men were injured while putting tarpaulins over the hatches of the boat when struck by a heavy wave and thrown over four hatches against the boiler house.

Philippine Scouts

Manila—The verdict of guilty with sentences of five years with hard labor found by a court martial which tried 204 Philippine scouts charged with joining a mutiny, will be reviewed by the board of the Philippines Department and afterwards sent to the war department at Washington, for action.

The place of confinement of the prisoners will be determined by a reviewing board. They may be imprisoned in the insular penitentiary here or sent to a federal prison in the United States.

The same court which tried the 203 prisoners charged with joining a mutiny, five being found not guilty, will be assembled some time next week for the purpose of trying the alleged ringleaders who are charged with causing a mutiny.

Radicals Work in South, New England

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The LaFollette-Wheeler campaign managers are directing their attention to New England and the south.

Coinciding with the announcement that Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential candidate after opening the campaign with a Labor day address in Boston, would speak in Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut before swinging through New York State on a tour westward, comes the statement that a regional headquarters is to be established in the south. The location has not been determined.

World Fliers Complete
Hazardous Arctic Jump

By Associated Press
Reykjavik, Iceland—The American round-the-world fliers, winging their way Thursday afternoon and evening from Reykjavik, Iceland, to Fredericksdal, Greenland, where they arrived Thursday night, passed the United States destroyer Richmond and the United States destroyers Ridgely and Barry on scheduled time, according to a message from the Barry.

Weather conditions in the early stages of the flight were favorable, with good visibility and a helping wind, but as the fliers neared Cape Farewell at the southern tip of Greenland they had to cut their way through a mist and a drizzling rain.

In the mist they apparently missed the United States cruiser Raleigh which was stationed off the cape and which reported that she had not sighted the fliers.

Previously the Richmond, Reid, Billingsley and Barry had sighted them passing each ship on scheduled time and flying low so as to receive the benefit of the cushioning effect of the water.

The messages from the Barry were sent from the destroyer at 5:30 and 6:30 Thursday evening and referred to "the fliers" without specifically mentioning Lieutenant Locatelli, the Italian aviator, who left Reykjavik with Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson and who presumably was accompanying them when they arrived in Greenland.

Lieutenant Locatelli had flown from Reykjavik from Pisa, Italy, in order to accompany Lieutenants Smith and Nelson across the Atlantic, was using a faster plane than the Americans and in the earlier stages of the flight had outdistanced his companions.

A later dispatch from the Barry declared that the flash reporting the arrival at Fredericksdal of Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson did not mention the arrival of Lieutenant Locatelli, the Italian aviator who was accompanying them.

Lieutenant Smith added to his report a skillful air navigator by landing at Fredericksdal at 6:30 Greenwich time, nine hours and fifty minutes after taking off from Reykjavik. Lieutenant Nelson landed at 7:15 requiring eleven hours for the trip.

STUDENT HELD AS AUTHOR OF GERM LETTER

Former University of Wisconsin
Freshman Seeks to Extort
$25,000 in Note

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Roy L. Schultz, 19 years old, former University of Wisconsin freshman, Lomira, who late Thursday afternoon confessed to local police an attempt to extort $25,000 from Joseph Uihlein, wealthy Milwaukeean, through the medium of a letter which he said contained deadly germs, was scheduled for arraignment in district court on a charge of attempted extortion, following questioning by District Attorney Eugene Wengert Friday.

The writer of the extortion note who signed himself "Dr. Hans Kopp" after stating in his letter that he was possessed of degrees in bacteriology from German universities, wrote that he and four other men of similar education, were desirous of advancing their studies in science, but had no means with which to accomplish this aim.

Accordingly the letter stated, Uihlein and 100 other citizens of the United States had been selected to contribute toward the cause of education in the manner named.

The germs, the letter stated, could be counteracted and their effect made harmless by other germs to be furnished if the deposit of money was made according to directions.

Police went to a place designated in the letter with a decoy package and the arrest followed.

Plymouth, Vt.—President Coolidge regards the final settlement of the reparations problem as the paramount world problem and until the Daves plan is finally put into operation he does not consider the time appropriate for calling of another arms conference.

Fear of invasion and attack must be removed from the relations between European nations, he feels. Likewise Mr. Coolidge thinks inquiries of foreign nations as to their war debts due this country should await complete settlement of the reparations problem.

Physicians of the state were urged to look for and relieve the mental sufferings that often magnify the seriousness of the disease until the patient may be incapable of his daily activities through his mental reactions.

Hundreds of Cellars Flooded
When Water Backs Up in Sewers

300 TRACKS WASHED OUT
High Wind Causes Losses to Farmers in Northern Part of County

At least one man dead, many injured and property damage running into thousands of dollars was the toll exacted by the severe rain and windstorm which swept over Outagamie co and almost all of eastern and central Wisconsin
Thursday night. Property loss in Appleton probably will exceed $6,000 and in the county
the damage to roads, crops, communication and transportation lines will amount to several times that sum. Heavy losses were suffered near Manitowoc, Green Bay and Wausau.

Appleton apparently was out of the principal high wind area but water fell in torrents. Shortly before midnight water more than a foot deep was running down the streets, clogging the sewers and causing backwater in hundreds of basements in sections of the city. The west end of the city was the principal sufferer in this respect. Near Appleton junction one industrial plant had 3½ feet of water in its basement.

The man killed was George Siebold of Mishicot, near Manitowoc, who lost his life while trying to open the gates of a dam near his property.
There were no serious injuries in Appleton or Outagamie co.

Railroad transportation through Appleton was not materially affected except on the Ashland division of the Northwestern and on the St. Paul line. Workouts near Dale stopped trains on the Soo line during the night.

The basements of the majority of business places on West College-ave were flooded with from six inches to two feet of water.

Practically $3,000 damage was caused in the Appleton Wood Products company plant where water stood 5½ feet deep in the machine shop and 18 inches on the main floor.
It is estimated that backwater thus far has caused about $11,000 worth of damage to this plant since it was erected.

Although Ten and Coffee company suffered a loss estimated at more than $200 to stock. Several hundred dollars' damage also was done to the Wisconsin Distributing company plant at Appleton Junction where water stood a depth of about a foot. Two feet of water lodged in the basement of the Junction hotel. Several inches of water penetrated into the front part of both basements of the Gloucster Cigar store.

Although flooding of basements was quite general in the Sixth and Fifth wards as well as the Appleton Junction district, hardly a house west of Richmond escaped, according to John Betz, a street department superintendent.

CELLAR STOCK RUINED
Since the rain was at its worst between 11:30 and 12:30, many residents did not know that their basements were taking in water until they arose in the morning, when the water had in some cases already sunk to a low level.

Sewers unable to carry the load backed up and ruined preserves, vegetables and in some cases, heating plants were damaged. A tea and coffee salesman in line at Outagamie and Carver sts. estimated the damage to his stock in the basement at $700. The water had risen 5 feet in the cellar, he said. Everything was turned topsy-turvy.

At the home of Walter Smith 1609
Lorain st., a barrel of dill pickles which had just been preserved was emptied of its contents and the pickles scattered all over the cellar.

STREETS WASHED OUT
Washouts occurred on a number of cindered streets of the city. Cinders and clay were washed down to a depth from one and a half to two feet in places. Some of the principal washouts are on Bennett st., from De-Forrest-ave to Ryan st., Story st., from Lafayette st. to DeForrest-ave; Locust st., from DeForrest-ave to Ryan st.

Major Parties Seek Labor Vote Despite Pledge To Radicals

Democrats and Republicans
Feel Opportunity of Working Man Depends on Sound Business Conditions.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Both the Republican and Democratic campaign managements are going after the labor vote. And this notwithstanding the endorsement by the American Federation of Labor of the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket.

The two major parties feel that the opportunity of the laboring man in America depends upon sound business conditions and continued employment. They are prepared to demonstrate that votes given to LaFollette and Wheeler mean only business chaos, a period of "uncertainty and retrenchment all along the line and much suffering to the unemployed."

The Republican argument is that the protective tariff means good wages and prosperity. The Democrats contend that with the Wilson administration was in power the highest wages in the history of American labor were paid. These two ideas will dominate the appeals of the Republican and Democratic party. But there will be still another method of approach to the laboring man. Does he want groups and factions to dominate the next congress or does he want a period of inaction? It is conceded that the LaFollette ticket can not elect enough members of the senate and house to control that body. Does the laboring man want the wheels of legislation to be stopped altogether and a two year deadlock?

G. O. P. NEEDS CONSERVATIVES
The Republican party is able to function if it obtains a sufficient majority of conservatives and the Democrats are insisting that they have fewer insurgents in their ranks than have the Republicans and that the Democratic party can operate effectively if given control of the executive and legislative machinery as occurred in the eight years of the Wilson administration.

The working man wants no experiments that are likely to hurt him.
He is at heart a conservative in the sense that he doesn't want change except for the better. If he thinks

"He's no good and ought to be put police, arguing that she would prosecute the man.

BAD WEATHER KEPT FOLKS AWAY FROM FAIR AT SEYMOUR

About 3,500 People in Park for Last Day of Big Exposition

Special to Post-Crescent
Seymour—Threatening weather had its effect on the crowd at the closing day of the Seymour fair on Thursday and only about 3,500 people were in the park. The attendance on Wednesday, however, assured the financial success of the fair.
The program on Thursday was a repetition of the preceding day except for the races and the ball game. Good time was made in some of the races and the 2-20 trot was especially hotly contested.
Anston and the Green Bay News-hounds baseball teams mixed in a slugfest match which the Baymen won by a score of 13 to 5.
It now is estimated that between thirty and thirty-five thousand people attended the fair on the four days, one of the largest ever seen in this part of the state.
Chestnut Bay, owned by H. H. Dana, Seymour, won the 2-24 pace Thursday afternoon in three straight heats. The best time was 2:20.4. Second place was taken by The Diamond, owned by J. S. Buckingham of West Liberty. Fred R. Olsen, Green Bay, finished third; Direct N. H. J. Rushton, Escanaba, was fourth, and Helen Rex, George Lehman, Shawano, was fifth.

CAN'T LIGHT FAG AND DRIVE CAR TOO

Holding the wheel of an automobile truck while the driver, D. Samuelson, was lighting a cigaret. Fred Warner, Nichols, lost control of the engine and it capsize in a ditch, plunging him underneath and severely injuring him. His injuries, according to his physician, consist of a broken rib, fractured skull, dislocated shoulder and numerous cuts and bruises. He was taken to a Green Bay hospital for further examination.
Samuelson, and oil salesman, was not injured. The truck was badly wrecked.
The action is melodramatic in trend concerning the romance and the mystery following in the wake of two ominous jewels—two gorgeous emeralds, which through their long, eventful history have shown with sinister force that of those who gaze upon them, they bring evil to men and happiness to women. There is scarcely a lot-up in the swift-moving sequence of events from the first wide-in until the final wide-out, and what is in between the two, furnishes one of those enjoyable entertaining hours that have been offered in Appleton.
USES HAMMER WHILE ROUND HAND AND FOOT
In making one of the scenes for "The Silent Vow," which will be shown at the new Bijou theatre today and Saturday, William Duncan was required while bound hand and foot to use a hammer and a red hot soldering iron. This task seemed impossible at the start, but Duncan, ever resourceful and used to making movie thrills and doing marvelous stunts, found it easy.
He half squirmed, half hopped to where the hammer was lying, and picking it up in his mouth, he held it tight with his firm teeth and used it with ease and grace of a carpenter. Next he hopped over to the place where an electric soldering iron was placed, and with his hands tied behind his back he moved close to the iron so that the cords which bound him might be burned. This was a more difficult task than that of using the hammer, as Duncan could not see what was going on behind him, and on several occasions his flesh came in contact with the soldering iron and caused him to wince.

Automobile Still Far From Perfect, Makers Say

The automobile industry was never in a more confused state of mind than it is this year.
Will we have four or six or eight? Straight eights or V-types? Two-wheel brakes or four? Friction or hydraulic? Lighter engines or heavier? This, that or the other? Whatever it is, it's supposed to be good, the best ever, none to equal it, and so on.
Still, automotive engineers are puzzling their brains over some of the oldest and most important problems facing the industry. They have agreed on one idea, to make automobile riding easier for the average layman.
Yet one of the three outstanding questions under discussion at the recent meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers was just this matter of riding comfort. Here were automobiles of apparently the latest word in design, yet their engineers were still studying the matter of "leveling bumps," eliminating vibrations and improving on the spring design of their cars.
WORK ON MOTOR
The other questions under discussion at the S. A. E. meeting concerned cranks, oil dilution and supplying cleaner mixture for combustion. All three more or less concerned with improvement on the engine itself.
The powerplant of the average automobile is still far from perfect. It bothers the motorist little today. And with the united efforts of auto engineers for improvement on this part of the car, it promises to give the future motorist practically no trouble.
With some 15,000,000 automobiles on the roads today, the automobile industry, one of the greatest in the country, the product of this industry can be said to be still in the experimental stage.

AWAITING RESULTS
A straight eight is brought out, and the auto public waits to see what advantages it has in practice. Balloon tires come out, and, although they have been adopted with a most remarkable show of enthusiasm, there are many who are watching their performance before deciding on their practicability for their own use.
While all these innovations and more, are put before the riding public, auto manufacturers must keep on selling their cars. So they redesign the bodies, they add a little of this and some of that, they furnish a new accessory here and another there, they change the dash and in general change the car about so as to differentiate from the 1924 model.
Cars must be sold even while the engineers are working on their development. And so they are—with but little differentiation between one and the other, considering prices, but in general with good value received for the prices paid.
Old Hebrew inscriptions, said to be in the actual handwriting of Moses, have been found in the Sinai Peninsula and translated.

BAND CONCERT IS CALLED OFF AGAIN

Another postponement of the band concert scheduled for Friday evening in the City park was made necessary by Thursday night's rain. The park is so wet that the grass would be destroyed if a crowd is permitted on it. It was said.
It is probable the concert will be played next week, according to M. Steinhauer.

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN DELIGHTFUL IN STIRRING STORY OF ADVENTURE

The sultry and adorable Elaine Hammerstein graces the screen at the Elite theatre, where her latest picture "Drums of Jeopardy" was shown for its initial performance yesterday. Miss Hammerstein is more than charming, she is an actress of the highest capabilities and her splendid work in this new Truett picture is going to add considerably to her fame and laurels.
The producers were exceedingly fortunate in the selection of Harold MacGrath's well-known novel, because it offers Miss Hammerstein unusual opportunities in the portrayal of what she really is—a real, true American girl. She does, by a great margin, the most convincing and entertaining work we have ever seen her do.
The settings are elaborate and the atmosphere throughout is convincing and thoroughly in keeping with the story. The lighting effects especially call for praise and in many scenes

EXPECT APPLETON WILL SCORE HIGH AS HEALTHY CITY

Better Cities Contest Points Out Where Appleton Is Lagging Behind

Appleton will submit to a health diagnosis as thorough as the Mayo clinic at Rochester when the better cities contest, under auspices of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work gets under way here, and incidentally may bring some of its projects such as garbage disposal to a head. This city and 20 others in the state will learn definitely how healthy they are and where they need improvement.

There are a number of health matters which have been up for consideration here from time to time and the inability to score in the contest for the prize of $1,000 may spur the proper authorities to bring them to completion. Relocation of the municipal water plant intake, inspection or pasteurization of milk, relief of school congestion and establishing of playgrounds are issues that may be revived and possibly consummated to make Appleton one of the healthiest communities in Wisconsin.

CITY SCORES WELL

This city, on the other hand, has done many things in its health advancement that will give it a high score at the start. For instance, its births and deaths are completely and promptly recorded and its infant mortality rate is the lowest in Wisconsin. Its city water is treated for safety and is under strict daily supervision. Milk will be protected from tubercular infection under the proposed county-wide cattle testing, sewage disposal facilities are adequate and disease control is efficient and strict. Public health service and community health activity here also will help the score.

One thousand points may be earned in the scoring by the city with best health rating, according to the schedules received by the community welfare committee of the chamber of commerce. There are five subdivisions under this total, with 140 points for vital statistics, 600 for general health and sanitation, 150 for health inspection, sanitation and health education in school, 20 for auxiliary health organizations and 90 for auxiliary provision for recreation and physical development.

Dr. C. A. Harper of the state board of health, is chairman of the committee on health standards in the contest.

MUST REMOVE GARBAGE

Appleton will lose all or the greater part of 30 points if its garbage facilities are not improved. The contest requires that "garbage be removed at least once a week in residential section, and daily or as often as necessary, from hotels and other food depositories." Fly-tight metal garbage cans are required and outdoor trash, rubbish and manure must be removed weekly so the city is reasonably free from flies and an additional score of 10 is allowed if this is done.

Cities score most which have a full time health officer and have funds available at the rate of at least $1 per capita for maintaining a health office, public health nurses, inspection, garbage disposal and an isolation hospital. The score increases if the health fund averages more than $1 per person. Appleton will fall well below the $1 average.

Would Retrieve Fortune

New York—Wall Street will know soon whether the business adventures of a youth in college fit him to cope with traders of long experience.

For Allan Aloysius Ryan, Jr., son of the famous Wall Street broker and grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, has gone onto the street to retrieve the $5,000,000 his father lost in an unsuccessful corner on Stutz stock a few years ago.

Fresh from Yale he has just purchased a seat on the Curb Exchange, after serving an apprenticeship as stock runner, stock clerk, margin clerk and order clerk. He is 21 years old.

Young Ryan is a husky replica of his daring father who was a sensation of trading on Wall Street in his youth.

"There's nothing to write about me," he said. "I'm merely going on the street to earn my living."

Ryan's business and financial career took definite form during his school days at Yale. He was business manager of the Yale Record and class treasurer. He also headed the corporation that purchased the land on which the new office building of the Yale Record was constructed.

source and thereafter from danger of contamination by the alvine discharges of human beings and animals and from industrial wastes. The score of 90 points is given, however, if water is so treated as to render it safe, and under strict daily supervision. An additional ten points is granted for guarding private wells against surface and ground pollution.

STRESS CLEAN MILK

Dairy inspection and safety and cleanliness in production and handling of milk is required for a high score as well as bacteriological tests and proper temperature up to time of delivery. Pasteurization of all milk not obtained from tuberculin tested cows gives 20 per cent, and a like amount is added for food inspection and physical examination of those handling it.

Credit also is given for having all houses connected to sewers, for establishing of public comfort stations and for having sewage disposal that will not interfere with health or drinking water.

Vigilance and control of communicable diseases and isolation and quarantine are stressed and additional scoring is possible for control of tuberculosis and social diseases. Miscellaneous health, hospital, laboratory and hygiene facilities also are listed for points.

STATE THIRD IN NUMBER OF MILES OF SURFACED ROAD

U. S. Survey Says Wisconsin
Has 78,679 Miles of Highways

Madison—With a total of 78,679 miles of roads in its highway system and 21,673 miles of surfaced highways, Wisconsin ranks fourteenth in total mileage and third in surfaced roads among states of the nation, according to latest tabulations received by the state highway department from the United States Bureau of Roads.

The largest part of the state's highways are of the gravel type, the summary shows. In this class are included 14,452 miles of highways in this state, placing Wisconsin third among states in this type. The second largest type of roads in Wisconsin is sand clay, which composes 3,360 miles of the state's system. In this class, Wisconsin ranks fifth among states of the union.

Of waterbound macadam construction, Wisconsin has 951 miles and ranks twelfth among states in this class. Surface treated macadam composes 817 miles of highways in this state, placing it eighth in this type. Of bituminous concrete construction, Wisconsin has but fourteen miles, ranking thirty second, and of cement concrete 1,456 miles, ranking fifth in this class.

Wisconsin stands highest among the states in low-type surfaced roads, according to J. T. Donaghey, state highway engineer, commenting on the compilation. States ranking ahead of Wisconsin in total surfaced highways are: Ohio and Indiana, the first with 57,273 miles, and the second with 42,294 miles.

California leads all other states in cement concrete roads with a mileage of 2,888. Other states in their rank follow: Illinois, 2,321; Pennsylvania, 1,749; Michigan, 1,430; Wisconsin, 1,456.

In waterbound macadam roads, Ohio leads with 14,540 miles. Other states that lead Wisconsin in this type of construction are: Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and Oregon.

In gravel shale roads, in which Wisconsin stands fourth, Indiana leads with 32,411 miles, followed by Michigan with 15,287 miles; Ohio 15,220; Wisconsin, 14,252.

Texas is far in the lead of all types of highways with a total mileage of 167,685 miles. Its closest competition is Oklahoma with a total of 134,263 miles, Kansas ranking third with 128,651 miles. Wisconsin stands fourteenth in this respect with a total system of 78,679 miles.

ment, in which the contention is made that by artificial means the coloring of butterfly wings can be reproduced with much more effect and richness than the original themselves.

Prof. Hans Zoller, in an address before the German Chemical Society, asserted that he frequently had made artificial wings which would make "any butterfly in the world turn green or black with envy."

The coloring in real butterfly wings is brought about by light reflections on the same principal which causes soap bubbles to glisten colorfully in the rays of light. Prof. Zoller explained that he used resin as the basis in his experiments.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?
Why cutting and operations fail?
Do you know the cause of piles is internal?
That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?
Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Schlitz Bros. and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.

self from its customary lethargy and shouts "Hang them!" But it's unfair."

It is the lawyer speaking—the lawyer who can never understand that the adjudication of crime is not a mere matter for bench and bar alone. The public is concerned, must be concerned, or its agencies of justice will have no background, no authoritative potency. Moreover, crime is not a mere attack upon individual rights or person. It is an attack upon society.

When accused murderers plead guilty to the serious charge against them, admit their sanity, and confess knowledge of the difference between right and wrong, Leopold and Loeb did, the public naturally and logically believes there is not much to be done aside from administering the punishment duly prescribed. That has been the usual procedure in the past, but Mr. Darrow has discovered something new that, he thinks, neutralizes admitted guilt, admitted sanity, and admitted knowledge of right and wrong.

That something is the assumed inability of the accuser to practice the right that they are admittedly able to distinguish from wrong. That is, while the young fiends are far advanced intellectually, they are as deficient emotionally as a child of four or five years is. and this timely discovery of the hired lawyer, backed by convenient and hired alienists, must operate in saving them from the gallows, the prison or the insane asylum, must relieve them from the grave responsibility of their crime, as if they were babes.

It is a novel presentment in mitigation of a confessed crime committed by college graduates. Mr. Darrow thinks the public is "unfair" because it refuses to believe the plea as anything more than piffle, whose introduction into the case reduces court procedure to a travesty.

It is no wonder the public shows the disposition Mr. Darrow describes as "unfair." But neither he nor his clients are to be pleased in this matter. Pleading "the baby act" will not do. The main result and the only safe one to be attained is that demanded by society through its laws—the adequate punishment of the guilty and the vindication of justice.

HERRIOT'S PART

M. Herriot has been welcomed back to France with the greatest enthusiasm. The efforts of the royalists to turn public sentiment against him and to disrupt his ministry were a sorry failure. M. Herriot is hailed as the peace saviour of France. This is remarkable, in view of the fact that his policy was almost a direct reversal of his predecessor, M. Poincare. The latter said France would never get out of the Ruhr until she was paid. France now withdraws from the Ruhr with no absolute guarantee of payment. The doctrine of force has been abandoned in favor of the policy of conciliation and reason. It has been decided that there is better prospect of getting payments out of Germany through adoption of a plan which creates the capacity to pay, and gives Germany freedom in her economic and social life.

In this respect at least M. Herriot has been of patriotic service to his nation. He represents the human element in government and in international relations, as opposed to that of the dollar, which can see only the material and political side of national relations and national policies. Not only is Premier Herriot being sustained by his own people, but the spirit of conciliation he has shown has found an echo in Germany, where acceptance of the Dawes plan is meeting with pronounced favor, and has every prospect of ratification by the reichstag. It has been an abandonment of Old world diplomacy throughout and a substitution for it of frank, honest, open dealing—the American way. This happy outcome has been facilitated by the character of the ministries in France and Great Britain, as well as of the government in Germany.

SHOULD FAT PEOPLE DRINK

Take it by and large, the dictum which I have ventured to reiterate here several times each year, namely, that when we grow fat we grow fat for two perfectly obvious reasons, because we eat too much or exercise too little or both, still holds good. It is still physiology. There is a common saying that it is a poor rule that has no exceptions. Perhaps there are exceptions to this rule about growing fat. I am not sure about it. Sometimes I think maybe abnormal conditions of the ductless glands may be responsible for ordinary obesity regardless of the small amount of food the individual consumes or the great amount of muscular work or exercise he does. But in this field we are justified in assuming the fat person is guilty of over-eating or under-exercising or both until he proves himself innocent, and it is a remarkably difficult thing for a fat person to establish his innocence of these sins. It is so very, very easy to stow away an excessive number of calories in the form of such concentrated and palatable delights as ice cream, candy, sugar, cream, butter, cake, bread—well, nearly all the good things on the list that vast armies of fat folk, and the armies are growing vaster all the time—insidiously accumulate the embarrassing slacker flesh without realizing what an enormous total of calories they habitually consume. So refined is the denaturalized or manufactured food which constitutes a large part of our ordinary diet today that it is really a study and a problem to select an adequate diet which will not over-nourish.

Certain items of the diet which naturally give some satiety lose that quality in the course of preparation or manufacture. The removal of the bran and outer coating of the wheat kernel in the process of milling is an instance. For one thing the ultra refinement of flour robs us of the bulk which in itself gives some satiety if the natural wheat is eaten in its entirety. We have become so thoroughly sold on ultra refined white flour that many of us actually imagine the modern milling process confers some virtue upon the wheat without which one is not quite safe in eating this particular food. It should not be necessary to assure the intelligent reader that wheat, as it comes from the thrasher, is a wholesome and universally desirable item of food which requires nobody's stamp, seal or label. But the question before the house is, how much water may a fat person drink? The answer is all he wants and whenever he wants it.

There is no ground for the popular notion that obesity is increased by too free drinking of water, and certainly no one can safely or effectively reduce by restricting his water drinking. It is a physiological truth that the drinking of cold water immediately before a meal and immediately after a meal aids digestion, as a rule, and therefore helps certain undernourished or thin persons to accumulate more weight. But the free drinking of water by fat persons rather tends to add a reduction regimen because the water stimulates the whole mechanism and assist the system in the oxidation and elimination of the greater quantity of tissue material which must be disposed of if one is to reduce.

If this seems paradoxical it is because you fail to grasp the physiological truth which underlies the question.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Isinglass Hair Dressing

Is isinglass injurious to the hair? I have heard that a weak solution is good to keep the hair in curl. How would you make the solution? Would the curls come out while in swimming? (E. C.)

Answer.—It would not injure the hair if you take a shampoo every two weeks while using it. About a teaspoonful dissolved in a quart of boiling water makes the right solution. The solution does not keep long, so it is better to prepare only as much as you wish to use immediately. If you swim mostly in the beach the curls will stick a while, but if you accidentally get into the water, bid your curl plaster wave good night.

MEETING AN OLD FRIEND

Editor of the Post-Crescent: In the issue of the Post-Crescent for August 5 was an article telling about the repairs recently made to the court house in Appleton, including the statement that they were the first repairs of any consequence made to that building since it was constructed forty years ago.

This article brought to my mind an incident of a few weeks ago that may be of some interest to you or your readers. I was walking down a residence street when I saw a sign on a house, reading "Philip Dean, Architect. I went to the door, rang the bell, and said to the woman who responded: "I used to know a Philip Dean, architect, many years ago in Wisconsin. I wonder if this guess he is." The woman replied, "We lived many years in Wisconsin." Subsequent conversation developed that Mr. and Mrs. Dean left Appleton 24 years ago going from Appleton to Wausau where they lived nine years, then to Milwaukee for two years, and from there, their children growing up and demanding college education, they went to Madison where the children went through the university, and where their home was thereafter until last December, when they moved to Los Angeles.

The connection with the Appleton court house is this: Mr. Dean was the contractor who built the court house, and that job was what first took him to Appleton. When the court house was completed he remained in Appleton as an architect, contemporaneously with Architects Withagen and DeLong, up to 24 years ago. Incidentally, it may be remarked that history seems to warrant the conclusion that Contractor Dean did an honest job on the Outagamie County court house.

Baby Elephants Usually Playful

Female elephants reach the age of maturity at the age of thirty-five and breed up to the age of seventy-five; they bear young about every three years. The period of carrying varies from eighteen months in the case of a female baby and twenty-one months in the case of male. At birth a baby elephant weighs about 200 pounds and stands thirty-six inches high. The elephant is one of the few animals born with full possession of all its faculties. A young elephant is as frolicsome and as playful as a puppy or kitten and is always willing to start a game; it would sit in your lap if you let it.—Charles Mayer in The Mentor.

Adventures In The Library

THEODORE DREISER'S PLACE

What is Theodore Dreiser's place in American letters? H. L. Mencken calls him a demigod, a writer who stands head and shoulders above all other American writers. The critics opposed to Mencken declare that he is a vulgar nobody, a writer without a style who moreover is all wrong in his interpretation of American life. In between these two extremes stand the moderate men like William Lyon Phelps, for instance. "I see the fine primitive strength" in Dreiser's work," says the latter. "At least some of it, though I cannot feel toward him as Mencken does."

Dreiser is the kind of a man who arouses violent likes and dislikes. All the chances that he will stack up somewhat lower in the history of American literature than his admirers believe and a good deal higher than his detractors think.

MONEY COULDN'T LURE

Whatever one may think of Dreiser's morals, one cannot help but admire his intellectual integrity. During the whole of his literary life he has refused to compromise with the literati fascinations of the day. Rightly or wrongly, he has stood by what he believed and he has not allowed the lure of money or position or honor or anything else to deflect him a single inch from the path he had marked out for himself. He has insisted on writing what he thinks is true and he has allowed no extraneous considerations to influence him. He has the courage of his convictions that few writers have been wise to equal.

He published his first novel, "Sister Carrie," in 1906 and he was not able to persuade any American publisher to issue another of his books until 11 years later. The public was not ready for the Dreiser way of writing and for Dreiser ethics, so the publishers did not dare publish him. He could have made money by writing the kind of books the public wanted. It was the decade of romanticism in American letters and there is no reason to believe that Dreiser could not have turned out that kind of thing. But he refused to turn it out. He was at least an honest man, no matter what other charges may be brought against him.

POPULARITY CAME

Then began the renaissance in American fiction, brought on in part through Dreiser's influence, and during the second decade of the twentieth century he published a number of novels that have made his name famous or notorious, depending on the slant one has on him. But success has no more deflected him from his path than failure. He has stuck to his guns through thick and thin and he has written what he has believed to be the truth about American life. This is a great credit mark in his favor or which for me would make up for a multitude of sins.

The contrast between Dreiser's literary life and his bread-and-butter life is one of the most amazing in American literary history. During several years he was the editor of a string of cheap magazines that published stuff which in cheapness and banality could not easily be surpassed. He concocted serials of the most amazing lightness, stuff that was meant for the consumption of sixteen year old flappers and as far removed from the fiction published over his own name as day and night. No man in America could have despised more heartily the stuff that he published in the attack of magazines than Dreiser, but he had to make a living and he sold part of his time to a publishing house that was in the business of "giving the public what it wants."

That experience showed that he knew how to give the people what it wanted and could have transferred the gift to his own fiction, but it is to his credit that he refused to sell himself but had the courage to stand by his convictions at great personal loss.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by nervous stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Eminent Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bismuthated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion, adv.

KAUKAUNA FOLKSElectrically Heated Pool Used
by Hundreds of People
Every Day

Kaukauna—The swimming pool in the new municipal building which was to be one of the first in the state continues to grow in popularity. It is being used by nearly 200 persons daily, and frequently the bathers are lined up waiting their turn. They are admitted to the tank in groups of from 45 to 50 and each group is allowed 45 minutes. The shower baths are open all day, but the tank is used only from 12:45 to 4:45 in the afternoon and on certain evenings.

Girls have the use of it Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and boys on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. Tuesday evenings are set aside for men only and Wednesday evening for women only. The shower baths and pool are in charge of T. W. Armstrong and Mrs. Elmer Schaefer.

City water is used and the most modern machinery softens and filters it. Upon entering the building it is first softened then filtered and finally subjected to violet rays which de-sterilize all germ life. Everyone is required to take a shower bath before entering the pool and only white and gray bathing suits are permitted. The pool is cleaned daily with vacuum cleaners and the water always is pure and fresh. It is heated by electricity and is kept at a temperature of 70 degrees. In cold weather the rooms are kept at a temperature of from 73 to 75 degrees in order to prevent moisture and steam. The building is heated by electricity.

RAIL COMMISSION WANTS TO CONTROL STATE BUS LINES

Legislature May Be Asked to Place Busses Under Commission's Jurisdiction

Madison—Definite steps looking toward the enactment of measures by the next legislature giving the state railroad commission jurisdiction over motor bus operation in Wisconsin, are expected to be one of the chief results of a survey now being made by the commission of motor bus traffic in the eighteenth ward, Milwaukee, Adolph Hanneberg, railroad commissioner, declared.

The Milwaukee investigation was undertaken at the request of the common council. It is the first attempt by the railroad commission to determine facts regarding motor bus operations. A request has been made upon the bus line operating in the Eighteenth ward for its financial accounts, Commissioner Kanneberg said. Although the commission has no direct jurisdiction over the busses, he said the request was made with the idea of determining whether the operations are a financial success.

"We feel the investigation of bus service is a beginning and will give the commission some insight into conditions of bus lines," Commissioner Kanneberg stated. "Undoubtedly the next legislature will be called upon to give the railroad commission jurisdiction over such service and we hope to be in a position to take over the work when the time comes."

The railroad commission as a whole is strongly in favor of placing bus companies under the supervision of the body, it was learned. The commissioners probably will join in a movement during the next legislature to enact bus legislation.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECASTER TAKEN BY MACKVILLE BOYS

The uncertain and unsettled state of the weather may take a different turn as a result of the capture of genuine ground hog by Benedict and Henry Heilmann, sons of Peter Heilmann, Mackville-Id. But the unfortunate part of the boys' adventure was that they destroyed the hole from which the woodchuck was in the habit of creeping out. If the boys can manufacture another hole from which the animal can make his annual appearance on Feb. 2, the uncertainty of Wisconsin winters will be ended.

ESCANABA TRAGEDY IS CAUSED BY MOONSHINE

Escanaba, Mich.—City and county authorities, working to determine what caused Fred Embs, mail carrier here for 20 years, to attack and seriously wound his wife, Loretta, with a hammer Monday and then to blow his head off with a shotgun, Tuesday discovered a partially empty bottle of moonshine in the automobile in which Embs returned Sunday from a two weeks' vacation. Embs, who had been a sufferer from insomnia, was at first believed to have become temporarily insane. Mrs. Embs, who has been unconscious since the attack, is conceded a chance to recover. Police are endeavoring to learn where Embs purchased the liquor, which they believe to be the cause of the tragedy.

Where His "Fresh Air" Had Come From

YOU know the classic story. Sleepy lodger bothered with asthma. Couldn't budge the stubborn window. Awoke stifled. Heaved a shoe where the pane showed in the dark. Crash of splintered glass. Peaceful slumber. But morning revealed the mirror shattered instead of the window. Power of imagination. Set it down to that and nothing else when your motoring acquaintance claims that "cheap gas runs as well in hot weather as good gas." His "fresh air" comes from the slightly easier starting which higher temperatures bring to poorest fuels. His cold-weather caniness falls into gentle slumber without reckoning the fact that fuel unfit for winter use must be by very nature unfit for summer driving.

Wadham's True Gasoline

has no soothing tricks to delude the buyer's mind — and needs none. The same superiorities that make it universally preferred for winter driving are the precise qualities that distinguish it as the correct fuel for use the year around. By intrinsic nature it is all gasoline, quick firing, rich in power, full burning without residue. Its quality and added safety register in mileage, in motor-life and in the pocket book — not in the mere fancy of the buyer's mind.

LOMIRA HASN'T ONLY SPEEDTRAP IN THIS STATE

Motorist Warned to Give Wide Berth to Plover and Schofield

The Lomira "speedcop" is not the only one that is being cautioned against, for the Wisconsin State Motorist association through its weekly map bulletin service warns Badger automobilists against four other speed traps, namely at Plover, Schofield, in Jefferson-co and at Zion City.

Warning is issued to be on the alert for the "petty larceny thieves of the ilk of Jesse James plying their nefarious legal banditry under the guise of speed cops," some of whom work on a commission basis, conceal their badges and drive around in automobiles, often in the company of women to deceive the unsuspecting tourist. Another practice seems to be the extracting of $30 bail from tourists who naturally have to forfeit the money because of their inability to appear in court.

That sort of "speed cop" is condemned by the association as a nuisance, as a threat to respectful law-abiding people and a joke to the ones they are supposed to curb. They do not regulate traffic, it is pointed out, for if they did, they would rid the highway of race track speeders, rock-throwers and cars with only one or no lights.

Attention is called this week to the Zion City trap where wholesale arrests are made for minor infractions of speed laws. Motorists are warned to detour away from Jefferson-co where the speedcop is paid on a percentage basis. At Plover license numbers are being taken and bills for fines are mailed to motorists, it is said. The bills are illegal, and motorists are warned against paying them. The Schofield nuisance consists of a touring car used by a speedcop who frequently is accompanied by a woman.

Scarfs, Dresses Must Be Of Same Material, Fashion Says

Fashion decrees that all of a woman's attire be in harmony has resulted local dealers say in flannel scarfs that are to be worn with the flannel dresses that will be in vogue in fall. Scotch plaids and Roman striped material is very effectively worked out in the new scarf. Very often the ends of the scarfs are fringed, accept brighter colored stitchings and designs are used to make them chic.

Silk scarfs that came into vogue in the spring will remain through the winter. They are of georgette or crepe de chên and are made up in various shades, such as robin egg blue, yellow, lavender, cerise, black, white, rose, and combinations of colors. The prints are of large designs, usually of flowers and very attractive.

"Peggy" ties that became popular this summer, merchants believe will be more the rage this winter. This silk tailored novelty is very stunning in rose, black, tangerine, peach, red and tan. Extra long Windsor ties of cotton crapes in all the popular shades are extremely new undoubtedly will be preferred to the more severe tailored Peggy ties.

Necklines will be of the bateau and fitted braunley style both of which will allow the new neckwear to be worn. Collars of not with ruffled or pleated edges of val lace, real Irish lace and flit will be used to finish off the neckline.

NEW RECORD FOR CHERRY CROP IN DOOR COUNTY

All previous cherry production records were shattered this year in Door-co. With the possibilities of another week of picking some of the large orchards the season is the longest and best in history of fruit culture.

The Martin Orchard company has installed a new equipment to handle a large part of its crop. This large orchard has a cold packing plant.

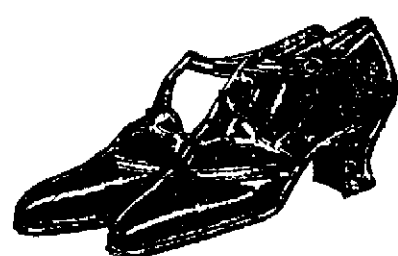

where hundreds of tons of cherries are pitted, chilled and placed in large kegs. This variety of cherry is used by wholesale bakeries throughout the county for making the famous Door-co cherry pie. One large bakery in Chicago has placed an order of 20 carloads of this kind of fruit.

After the present season the nation will have a new thirst quenching drink, nothing more or less than a prepared cherry juice which gives promise of being nearly as popular and widely sold as grape juice. Hundreds of gallons of this whole-some juice is being extracted every day and it is expected to find a ready sale upon the market.

SCIENTISTS HERE NOT EXCITED OVER PROXIMITY OF MARS

Won't Even Take the Time to Take a Peek at Planet As it Nears Earth

Scientists at Lawrence college are not even as much as looking through their telescopes for a glimpse of Mars today, according to Dr. J. C. Lymer, head of the department of astronomy. While scientists all over the world are quite excited over the visit of the planet, Lawrence teachers are taking the matter coolly.

Down at Drake university at Des Moines, Iowa, Dr. Daniel W. Morehouse, president of the college and discoverer of the Morehouse comet, still believes Mars is inhabited and that the Martians will attempt to signal the earth when it passes within 35,000,000 miles of it today.

"Without wishing to burlesque the Mars question," he says, "I still am willing to say that if Mars is inhabited we can look for an attempt to signal us."

"Such a signal would come during the present period of the planet's proximity to the earth. It will be only 35,000,000 miles from us then, nearer than it ever has been since 1877. The signal will be by light or radio, preferably the former, for light can be directed with less waste of energy. Since Mars is older than the earth, its inhabitants, if there are any, certainly must be further advanced culturally than we, and will know how to try to attract our attention."

They may gather their navies in a triangle, circle or square and direct the powerful beacons toward the earth. They will not be able to see us against the sun, but their scientists will know our telescopes will be searching for a message as never before. Then a few nights later, when we are visible to them again, they probably will be watching for our reply."

But the Martian man probably is a much different sort of creature than a man of this world.

"He would have to be adapted to his environment," Dr. Morehouse declares.

"He must be able to bear a rare atmosphere and a temperature that may be many degrees below zero, though the red color of the planet suggests a red vegetation that might temper the cold by absorbing and radiating more heat than terrestrial vegetation."

"A man weighing 200 pounds down here would weigh 75 on Mars, because Mars is only half as large as the earth and its density is only 71 per cent of the earth's."

MAJOR PARTIES SEEK TO WIN SUPPORT OF LABOR

The Democratic party will bring to the high wages of the Wilson administration, he may lean that way. If he thinks his present wages are high enough and that employment will be continued by having no interruption of the Republican administration, he may lean that way. If he thinks his present wages are high enough and that employment will be continued by having no interruption of the Republican administration, he may lean that way.

The general impression has been conveyed that labor has been a solid political unit in all campaigns. It has not been. But it has a fluctuating vote and the best analysts of the election returns of previous years concede that labor usually votes for the party which it believes will immediately improve business conditions, wages and employment.

As proof of the relatively little influence which the American Federation of Labor has had in past campaigns, the experience of 1918 is cited. In that campaign President Wilson had the support of Samuel Gompers who endeavored to make a speech in New York in favor of a Democratic congress but he was hissed and booed by one of the important trade unions. He has maintained for the most part a policy of non-partisanship largely because the membership of the American Federation of Labor is divided between the two major parties. The old Socialist vote, however, still survives. This plus the aggressive attitude of the big rivals of the American Federation, namely the Railroad brotherhoods and the political situation inside labor's ranks brought out the formal endorsement of LaFollette. The two major parties have not been discouraged by it but are laying their lines for an even more vigorous campaign to retain the labor vote.

many to be snow at the poles, prove the existence of water on Mars, the astronomer thinks.

But anyway, Dr. Morehouse and scores of other scientists are going to try to get in touch with Mars just to see what's what way up there on the "red planet."

Julius Robertson Sues Man with Whom His Brother Was Riding

Suit to recover $5,000 damages for the death of his brother who was fatally injured in an automobile accident last May, has been started by Julius Robertson, administrator of the estate of John C. Robertson, against Eugene Carr and Peter Van Roy.

The complaint alleges Carr parked his car on Appleton-st on May 7, 1924, without lights or guard of any kind, contrary to law, and that the car owned and driven by Peter Van Roy, in which the plaintiff was riding as a guest, ran into it.

It also is alleged in the complaint that the Van Roy car proceeded down the right side of Appleton-st where the Carr car was parked without lights and that Van Roy drove it in a careless and negligent manner. Both cars were damaged in the collision and it is alleged that Robertson re-

$1,250,000 HARTFORD BUILDING (MADISON AND DEARBORN STREETS, CHICAGO) Fifteen-Year 6½% First Mortgage Leasehold Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

(Closed Issue)

Dated August 1, 1924 Interest payable February 1 and August 1. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Registerable as to principal only. Callable as a whole or in part on sixty days' notice on any interest payment date up and including August 1, 1929, at 103 and accrued interest; thereafter up to and including August 1, 1931, at 102 and accrued interest; thereafter to maturity at 101 and accrued interest. Principal and semi-annual interest payable at Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Trustee.

Interest Payable Without Deduction for Normal Federal Income Tax not to Exceed 2%.

Pennsylvania Four-Mill Tax and Massachusetts Six Per Cent Income Tax Refundable to Holders Resident in Those States.

The following information is submitted by Mr. Harry C. Moir, President of Hartford Building Company, in his letter describing the issue:

BUILDING: The Hartford Building is located at the southwest corner of West Madison Street and South Dearborn Street, Chicago, at the very center of the Loop, occupying the best 24-hour corner in the city. It is in the heart of the financial, hotel and shopping district of the Loop, being directly across the street from the Union Trust Building, diagonally across the street from the Boston Store, and in the same block with the First National Bank Building and the Morrison Hotel. It is located only one block west of State and Madison Streets, generally regarded as "the busiest corner in the world."

The Hartford Building has a frontage of 95 feet on Madison Street and of 92½ feet on Dearborn Street, the building covering the entire lot. It is 14 stories high and is of fireproof brick and steel construction. It is unusually well constructed and has been well maintained.

SECURITY: These bonds, which constitute the only indebtedness, will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed first mortgage on the Hartford Building and the leasehold estates in the land upon which it stands. Based upon an appraisal of the building by Holabird & Roche, Architects, Chicago, and of the leasehold by Frederick S. Oliver, Real Estate, Chicago, the total present value of the security for this bond issue is $2,484,799, or practically twice the total amount of these bonds.

The leasehold estates represent an asset of unusually large and increasing value. The ground leases were made in 1891 and 1901, respectively, and extend to April 30, 1991, so that nearly sixty-seven years of unexpired term remain. The rental payments aggregate only $39,000 annually, without revaluation throughout the term.

EARNINGS: As reported by Messrs. Arthur Andersen & Co., Certified Public Accountants, Chicago earnings of the Hartford Building for the 12 months ended June 30, 1924, were as follows:

Gross Income $336,837

Operating Expenses (not including depreciation or Federal Income Taxes) 175,759

Balance available for Interest $161,078

Maximum annual interest charges on these Bonds $ 81,250

Leases for ground-floor stores recently made are at rentals materially larger than those previously in effect.

SINKING FUND: The mortgage securing this bond issue will provide for the payment to the Trustee of $120,000 per year in semi-annual installment beginning February 1, 1925, for the payment of bond interest and for the retirement and cancellation of bonds by purchase or redemption by lot.

If bonds are available for the Sinking Fund at or below par, over 75% of the total issue should be retired at or before maturity by operation of the Sinking Fund.

OWNERSHIP AND GUARANTY: The Hartford Building forms a part of the holdings of the Harry C. Moir interests, which control the entire frontage extending 320 feet from Dearborn to Clark Streets along the south side of Madison Street, as well as 225 feet on Clark Street, including the Morrison Hotel properties, and forming one of the largest and most valuable single plots in the entire Loop. These bonds will be personally guaranteed by Mr. Harry C. Moir as to principal, interest and Sinking Fund by endorsement on each bond. Mr. Moir's personal net worth, aside from his interest in the Hartford Building, is estimated to be several times the amount of this bond issue.

Chairmakers Expect To Treat Appleton To Bad Lacing Here

Sheboygan Scribe Predicts Easy Victory for Billy Liebl's Tribe After Two Previous Defeats.

Sheboygan—With an account with the Papermakers to settle, the Sheboygan baseball team will go to Appleton Sunday determined to administer a good lacing to the second rungers of the Wisconsin State League, who have won two and lost only one game since the schedule was revamped.

The Chairmakers are due to make a cleaning, and every member of the team is going up there inspired to that end. A story of victory again, with the Lieblmen going at their old clip, will undoubtedly be printed in the newspapers of the loop next Monday.

The Papermakers were idle last Sunday, but most of the players are members of industrial teams in Appleton, and have kept themselves in trim since their game two weeks ago. They are looking forward to making it three straight this season from the Sheboygan aggregation, but somehow or other those who have been paying strict attention to the performances of the Chairmen can't see it that way, and it seems as if they are doomed for disappointment.

Eddie Stack will oppose Buster Braun on the mound. Eddie has done much for the Appleton club this year, and his supporters are banking on him to dish up some natty stuff for the Sheboygan batters to whiff at. The Chairmen, however, leading the batting in the circuit, may take him down a bit in the estimation of those who have considered him pretty tough medicine to take.

TUNNEY-LOUGHNAN BOUT PUT OFF THROUGH INJURY

Philadelphia—A boxing bout between Gene Tunney and Tommy Loughnan of Philadelphia, scheduled for Brooklyn next Tuesday night, has been postponed on account of an injury to Loughnan's left arm.

Loughnan dislocated a bone in the wrist while sparring with Jim Flynn at Wilkes-Barre, N. J., in preparation for his bout with the American light heavyweight champion.

Loughnan, who came to Philadelphia Thursday with his hand and wrist swathed in bandages, said he would not be able to box for two or three weeks. In the meantime he added, it was probable that a new date would be fixed for the bout.

Phoenia, Col.—Joe "Bull Dog" Coffey, Pueblo featherweight, won the decision over "Kid" Hartman of Kansas in 12 rounds.

STAR BACKFIELDER ADDS TO STRENGTH OF PACKER ELEVEN

Signing of C. H. (Dutch) Hendrian Increases Prospects of Green Bay Gridders

Green Bay—G. H. (Dutch) Hendrian, considered one of the greatest backfielders in professional football, has accepted the terms of the Green Bay Packer management and he is to report here for practice on Sept. 7.

Negotiations with Hendrian have been carried on since the Pro league meeting in Chicago last month but the deal "hung fire" until Tuesday night when a wire was received from him in Detroit saying that he had accepted the terms.

The addition of Hendrian gives the Packers a backfield, the equal of any in professional football. He is a Princeton graduate and had three years of varsity football at the Tiger town institution in New Jersey. In 1922, he was given a berth on Walter Camp's All American selections.

STARTED WITH AKRON
After leaving college, Hendrian entered business in Detroit and he started pro football with that team until Oct. 23 when the Canton Bulldogs secured his services. For the remainder of the season, Hendrian was with Guy Chamberlain and his national pro champs at Canton. He played half quarter end and full in several games and saw some service at end.

Hendrian remained the property of the Akron club, however, and, when the Bulldogs were sold, bag and baggage to Cleveland, Hendrian was not included in the deal. This paved the way for him to come to Green Bay.

GOOD PASS RECEIVER
The new Packer's brilliant performance last season created favorable comment where ever he played. He is of the smashing crashing type of footballer, weighing about 185 pounds and is fast as streaked lightning. Hendrian was also a track man at Princeton. The former Tiger star is an expert receiver of the forward pass and can also pass the pigskin with deadly accuracy.

Cross, sport editors of the Canton Repository, had this to say about Hendrian's ability as a footballer: "The Bulldogs backfield speeded up a lot after Hendrian joined the team. The former Princeton player was always ready for a gain on crash es outside of tackle and he skirted the ones in whirlwind fashion. When he bucked the line, it seemed as if his nose was rubbing the ground, yet he kept his eyes open and never missed his hole."

"Hendrian had the happy knack of being back at home at any position in the backfield and he could also turn in a swell job at end. He had the 'Princeton habit' of following the ball closely. Hendrian looked mighty good in the aerial attack, his basketball ability playing him in good stead."

GUIDES KNOW GOOD SPOTS

The one best bet in the fishing game, especially when fishing strange waters is to hire a competent guide, one that knows the vicinity thoroughly and has information readily at hand and can guide a party to the places that will readily yield a good day's sport.

Not all waters are alike and the game fish may change their tactics of attack according to the waters fished, especially so in the spring-fed lakes where the shore lines are of gravel and have sandy bottoms. Then again the lake may be an inlet for some river or with the most wonderful shore line of pickerel grass or rushes that you would care to fish, yet where they are played to the limit will not yield a strike because there might be under water vegetation which will produce more feed, and that's where they will usually hang out.

One usually goes fishing to catch a few fish and get all the sport there is to the game of bait tossing, for it is mighty discouraging to toss a fly or an artificial continuously and never get as much as a rise.

If one can obtain the services of a guide in the vicinity of the waters, there are to be fished one can pick up a lot of information from the inhabitants who will readily point out the likely pools or spots in the lake where fish abound. Sometimes it's the small boy who can put one wise to some of the best fishing spots on the lake.

DEMPSEY WILL ATTEND WILLS-FIRPO BATTLE

Los Angeles—Jack Dempsey, heavy-weight boxing champion and motion picture actor, plans to leave here next Monday for New York to be on hand for the Firpo-Wills fight on Sept. 11 in Jersey City, and the Leonard-Varey contest at the Yankee stadium on Sept. 22. It is said that Dempsey's presence at the ringside will break a precedent as he has never seen his opponents or challenger in action with the exception of Tommy Gibbons.

"All I Need", Luis Says

Firpo's answer to critics who insist he is too crude to win the heavy-weight title of the world from Champion Jack Dempsey is his big right fist. "That's all I need," he says.

Wild Bull Has Complete Faith In His Right Hand

New York—There is at least this much to be said for the good Senor Firpo, he does not deal lavishly in the fragrant bunk.

The South American is back in this country to fight Harry Wills. A year ago he was battered to fragments by Dempsey. His crudities were clear to anyone who knew a boxing glove from an Indian love sonnet.

"Firpo will never do until he learns to cover up and to use his left hand," the erudite experts wrote.

It is the custom in bullfighting prize fights to point out that a battler, beaten in a previous fight, has overcome all his old faults and is now an amazingly improved article.

You will recall a campaign of this nature was pushed energetically by gentlemen interested financially in the return of Carpentier to this country some months ago, a campaign to which Mons. Georges lent enthusiastic verbal assistance.

Against Dempsey Carpentier had shown nothing but a right hand and a glaring weakness in the clinches.

The new Carpentier, the fans were asked to believe, had perfected all these deficiencies and was, in truth, a completely refurbished fighting machine.

That there might be no doubt whatever as to the authenticity of the transformation Mons. Georges himself personally assured reporters that he was, indeed, a changed man.

It subsequently developed that the only difference between the Carpentier who quit to Dempsey and the dashing Frenchman now collecting rare specimens of greenbacks in the midst was the manner in which he parted his hair.

Now the good Senor Firpo is not at all like this. He does not ask you to accept him as a new model with all the latest conveniences. He is in every respect the same guileless Firpo that our smart promoters had on display a year ago—and frankly admits it.

All he knows about covering up is that it is a contest operation relating to some manner to the business of going to bed.

And if he is using his left hand any better it is because knives in America beanie fit more gracefully into the fingers than the native Argentinian cutlery.

BADGER ATHLETIC CHIEFS WOULD BAR TICKET SCALPING

University Grid Ticket Applications Should Not Be Made Before Sept. 1.

Madison—"Don't mail your football application blank before August 30." That is the warning issued by Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales at the University of Wisconsin who explained that the new regulation was adopted to give everyone an equal chance for a choice seat.

"It has been the policy at Wisconsin for years to file and fill all applications in the order in which they are received," declared Mr. Hunter. "Last year the applications were sent out on Aug. 20 and on the morning of Aug. 21, before a single application had been delivered outside of Madison, our mail was delivered in a truck, several pouches of applications from Madison, and therefore the Madison people procured the best seats."

The people of Madison can easily arrange to witness every game at home if they so desire, but our records show that fully 90 per cent of those outside of Madison get back for only one game during the season. Therefore, in adopting the new regulation the Athletic Council did so to give everyone, whether he resides in Janesville, Milwaukee, Chicago, New York, San Francisco, or wherever he resides, the same opportunity to procure a choice seat as the Madison resident, and the Madison people are co-operating nicely.

"It is absolutely necessary with the new system of handling the applications, to set a definite date for the receipt of the applications, as on that date several additional assistants must be employed. That date has been set at Sept. 1, and to prevent the applications coming in earlier, the rule in vogue at Ohio State for two years was adopted, that of filing the applications received before Sept. 1 as of Sept. 5."

With the biggest and best schedule in the history of football at Wisconsin and the prospects bright for a fast team, every possible effort is being made by the athletic department to prevent any scalping of tickets on the eve of the big games by providing application blanks for any and all who desire them.

'Dip' Active At Manitowoc Track Events

Manitowoc—Five persons, two of them oldsmen, have been relieved of money by pickpockets at the county fair. Aid. Joseph Revellinsky lost $31 and Aid. William Schellin is minus a 10 spot.

Other victims were Wilfrid Duprins of Two Rivers, the heaviest loser, who parted with $35; Burt Lyman, Two Rivers, who lost $23 and Charles Otto, Kiel, $10.

All three races on Thursday's program were won in straight heats and with a heavy track the time was slow. In the special mixed race, Oma Bingen, Theodore Sternemann's entry from Milwaukee, won easily, but Franklin Vola, owned by J. Ziegelbauer, Milwaukee, entered in the seven-teen pace, failed to run within the money.

Lions Swamp Kiwanis, 13 To 4, In Decisive Contest Of Lark Loop

Connelly's Pitching Features Excellent Game Attended by Large Crowd of Excited Rooters.

HOW THEY STAND
	W	L	Pct.
Lions	6	2	.750
Kiwanis	5	3	.625
Rotary	2	4	.333
Ad Club	2	6	.250

For the second time this season, the Lions Thursday afternoon defeated the Kiwanis, 13 to 4, and thereby established a claim to the Lark Loop championship. Although both teams must play off postponed games with the Rotarians, the league leaders are hoped to win in each instance, and it is not expected that the playoffs will affect the present standings.

Connelly pitched stellar ball for the Lions, allowing but seven hits and sending down four men by the strike-out route. The two first Kiwanians to face him struck out, and wonderful support prevented their mates from gathering a hit until the fifth inning, when Deyer poled a single to the center garden. The Lions took a lead of four runs in the second frame when the Kiwanis fielders blew up and Basing gave two passes. Three other bad innings looked bad for the Lions but Connelly pitched himself out of bad holes both times and the Kiwanians' rally netted them but four runs in two stanzas.

CROWD WATCHES GAME
Despite clouds of mosquitoes which made life miserable for both players and fans, the largest crowd of the season witnessed the game and partisanship was hotter than ever before.

Three popups accounted for the first three Lions at bat, and after Connelly struckout McKenzie and Kubitz, Basing slammed a fast one to the pitcher and was thrown out. Basing walked Doc Frawley to start the second, and Doc obligingly stole second. Kubitz booted a hot grounder off Agrell's stick, permitting Frawley to score and giving Agrell a life on first. Emmie's single sent Agrell across the rubber and Urdan followed with another safety which sent Emmie to third. Beyer's attempt to catch Emmie off the third sack was a wild throw over Carlson's head and both runners scrambled across the rubber. After Buchman was walked, Jensen, Kamba and Lazar popped out. Frawley made two flashy catches of Beyer's fly and Schlitz's foul after Buchman had gobbled up Carlson's fly to first, and the Kiwanians had missed another chance. The next two innings passed without incident, although McKenzie reached third on error, a steal and a fielder's choice in the fourth.

ERRORS ARE COSTLY
Three errors and a hit gave the Lions two more runs in the fifth. The Kiwanians attempted a rally in the seventh and again in the eighth. Kubitz whipped in the seventh, but Basing followed with a safety, stole second and advanced to third on Carlson's hit. Emmie dropped Connelly's throw when the latter attempted to catch Carlson off second and Basing scored. Carlson reached third on Schlitz's single. A passed ball put Schlitz on second but he died there when Emmie made a brilliant catch of Koepke's fly.

The eighth gave the Lions five more rallies on four hits, two walks and several errors, while the Kiwanians piled up two more off three hits and an error. Barlow's three-bagger in the ninth followed by hits by Frawley and by Emmie and a fielder's choice resulted in another brace for the Lions, while the Kiwanians failed to add to their score.

The batteries: Lions—Connelly and Frawley; Kiwanis—Basing and Beyer.

The score by innings:
Lions 0 4 0 2 0 0 5 2-13
Kiwanis 0 0 0 0 2 2 0 4

ELECTION BOARDS REGISTER VOTERS HERE ON TUESDAY

Don't Expect Heavy Registration Until Primary Election Day

The city is preparing mechanically for the regular routine of registering voters which will be conducted Tuesday in each of the twelve precinct voting booths. Registration of voters is required in every even year, according to statute.

Appleton has reduced the number of registration days as much as possible on account of the expense involved, but the registration day seven days before primary election day is an adjunct of the primary election law and cannot be avoided.

City officials consider it superfluous, since every primary election day in itself a registration law, according to the state law, and experience has shown that very few people register on the regular registration day.

Registration officers, who also are the election board, meet at the polls to check over old lists and note removals and possible newcomers, but the real registering is done on primary election day.

Expense of holding a special registration amounts to approximately $500, which consists of rent of polling places and salaries of the 60 officials at the rate of $7.50 a day. Within two days after the primaries, election boards certify the number of voters to the city clerk who then has the registration list printed. This costs from $500 to $1,000, depending upon the number of voters who appeared at the primaries.

Precinct registration stations will be open from 9 to 5 o'clock. The first precinct station in the Second ward has been moved across the street into the Central Motor Car company for this election.

HOWARD WOOD TAKES JOB IN CALIFORNIA CITY

Howard I. Wood, former Appleton newspaper reporter, has been appointed secretary of the chamber of commerce at Glendale, Calif., according to a clipping of the Glendale Daily Press received here.

Mr. Wood began newspaper work as reporter for the Appleton Post nearly twenty years ago and held positions on other newspapers, later entering the field of commercial secretaries. After leaving Appleton he did newspaper work as reporter in Milwaukee, South Bend and Indianapolis. In 1909 he became news editor of the Marinette Eagle-Star, and a year later he became managing editor of the Herald-Leader at Menominee, Mich. He served two years as business manager and editor of two trade papers, and in 1919 became managing secretary of the Marinette Chamber of Commerce.

The former Appleton newspaper man will be remembered here for a journalistic feat which went wrong about the time of the first airplane. Planning a real sensation, he wrote the "fake" experiences of an aviator and placed them in a bottle which he "planted" in a bottle near the edge of the city. The bottle contained directions that it should be taken to the nearest newspaper office, which in this case was the Appleton Post. The ruse was well planned, but the originator did not make allowances for the sentiments of the finder. The person who found the bottle was a staunch supporter of the Appleton Crescent and therefore carried it to that paper which thus achieved the "scoop" over its rival.

This is the first example of signed handicraft in Europe.

The beauty of that work survives today, because of the quality of the workmanship, by its maker.

The ancient Greek artist signed his name to his work, because he was proud of it.
